FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEW FUR HARVESTERS AUCTION FUR & TRAP SUPPLIES DEPOT IN NEWFOUNDLAND, PLUS AN EXPANDED FUR PICK-UP SERVICE

Fur Harvesters Auction is pleased to announce that they have retained the services of Eugene Tiller of Pasadena as the new FHA agent for Newfoundland. His duties, which commence immediately, will include the receiving and shipping of Newfoundland's high quality wild fur, including a province-wide fur pick-up service. Trappers will also be able to receive cash advances and to purchase a full range of trapping supplies at Trans Canada Trapline Co. catalogue prices.

Eugene has over 30 years of trapping experience, and many years of serving trappers through the Newfoundland and Labrador Trappers Association, currently as Secretary. Eugene has expressed his enthusiasm in joining Fur Harvesters Auction, and in working to further the objectives of providing a premier fur and trap supplies service to Newfoundland's trappers, and of continuing to offer the finest in North American wild fur to the international buying community.

Fur Harvesters is also pleased to announce an expanded fur pickup service for Newfoundland's trappers, which will include additional pickup points in Central and Eastern Newfoundland, the addition of a pickup service to the communities of the Great Northern Peninsula, and new pickup locations in Western Newfoundland. Once complete, the schedule will offer fur pickup services in more than three times as many locations. Trappers will also be able to order trapping supplies in advance and to have them delivered freight free to fur pickup locations.

FHA CEO Mark Downey stated that, "We are delighted to welcome Eugene to the FHA family. The dedication that he has shown to the long-term future of trapping ensures that Newfoundland's trappers will be well-served for years to come."

FHA also expresses its gratitude to Rex Jennings for his many years of dedicated service in operating the FHA depot in Newfoundland.
